The image displays the Facebook 'Automated responses' settings menu on the left and a mobile message interface on the right. The settings menu includes options for greeting customers, away messages, instant replies, and frequently asked questions. The 'Away message' is currently set to 'Off'. The mobile message shows a text bubble with the following content: 'Thanks for your message. We're away and can't respond at this time. We appreciate you getting in touch.' The 'Settings' label in the mobile interface is circled in red.

 Why sell low-price pet toys? - because we want all pets to feel happy and we know what two toys will make it better than one. :)

I ordered 5 things from this website. And I received only 3. I wrote them a letter about this issue and they didn't bother writing me back. It gave me a really awful first impression about how you treat your customers. I will turn to customer protection since you didn't want to solve the error that you made in the warehouse when packing my order. Cheaper prices than in my home country but it's not worth ordering next time when I don't get my complete order 💎 I recommended your webpage to my friends but now I will warn them about your site.
